JUDGE L. J. WILLIAMS.
 Judge Luther Judson Williams is a son of the late Albert Gallatin Williams and a grandson of John Williams both prominent and well known men of their day. He was educated in the common schools of Greenbrier and read law at the University of Virginia. After obtaining his license to practice located at Lewisburg and soon took high position as a capable and successful lawyer. Though never having held office of any kind except the honorary office of President of the State Bar Association, he was, in 1908, nominated by the Republican State Convention for Judge of the State Supreme Court, was elected, drew the 12 year term and is winning distinction as a good lawyer and good Judge. May his fame increase! He married first a daughter of Esquire John C. Patterson, of this county, who was the mother of his two sons—Russell Lowell and Forrest Williams. After her death he married Mrs. Mollie (Dice) Leonard, to which union there were no children; some years after her death he married a lady from Kenova whose maiden name we do not just now recall.
